Kentucky Oral Health Coalition

KOHC

For a lifetime of oral health

The Kentucky Oral Health Coalition (KOHC) is a group of concerned citizens, advocates, and professionals working together to improve oral health across Kentucky. For more than a decade, KOHC has been advocating to expand school-based oral health services, improve oral health awareness, and increase access to oral health care. This work can only be sustained by the support of members, donors, and sponsors.

Sponsors can help KOHC provide an annual statewide convening that brings together a diverse and large number of leaders in the oral health community, including health advocates, health professionals, educators, and students, to increase dental awareness, develop strategies to improve oral health, and increase access to care. You can also support KOHC through various levels of membership and/or sponsorship that help sustain the coalition's work.
